BALK LINE CHAMPION.

The Same Whose Name is Jacob Schaefer, of New York.

Four Thousand People Watch the Closing Contest Between Schaefer and Maurice Vignaux for the Championship of the World—Thirty Thousand Dollars Said to Have Changed Hands on the Result.

CHICAGO, April 8.—The twentieth contest in the balk line billiard tournament occurred yesterday afternoon, between Joseph Dion and Maurice Vignaux, and was won by the latter. Duly, 600; Dion, 540. Duly passed to the front in the second inning, and held the lead until the close, exhibiting some superior position plays. A foul was allowed against each man during the game for a failure to move the object balls outside the balk lines. Score by innings: Dion—21, 8, 3, 29, 1, 2, 13, 20, 22, 0, 6, 0, 1, 5, 1, 1, 3, 2, 53, 34, 0, 2, 37, 25, 24, 15, 1, 1, 4, 6, 0, 101, 0, 49—Total, 540. Duly—6, 57, 1, 55, 22, 53, 3, 9, 12, 0, 1, 85, 0, 1, 0, 1, 8, 29, 9, 10, 2, 47, 6, 25, 41, 6, 7, 3, 2, 18, 5, 20, 38, 4, 5—Total 600.

The record as far as completed is as follows: Games won—Duly 4, Sexton 3, Maurice 2, Dion 1. Games lost—Duly 2, Sexton 3, Maurice 4, Dion 5, Wallace 1. This gives third prize of $500 to Duly; the fourth of $400 to Sexton, and the fifth of $200 to Morris.

The twenty-first and concluding contest was witnessed last night by 1,000 people in Central Music Hall, the auditorium and stage being fairly overflowing and 2,000 persons turned from the door, unable to gain entrance. It was the greatest game in the history of modern billiards, and an event at once brilliant and replete with excitement and interest. The experts, Maurice Vignaux, of France, and Jacob Schaefer, of New York, prepared for the notable encounter at seventeen minutes after 8 o'clock, and were received with loud cheers. Both men appeared in fine form, although the Frenchman was slightly pale. Each seemed determined to win the victory. The betting during the day had been $110 to $100 in favor of Vignaux, and about $30,000 had been staked on the result of the evening's game. Each man had won five games and lost none during the tournament, and the struggle last night was to determine the winner of the first and second prizes of $1,200 and $800 respectively, the gold emblem valued at $150, denoting the championship of the world, going with the first prize to the winner of this evening's game. The Frenchman was attired in full evening dress, while the German appeared at ease in a player's jacket. Schaefer won the bank, chase the spot ball, played and missed. Vignaux followed with a slow run of eleven, Schaefer with thirty-eight, and then the audience became so enthusiastic that applause was liberal every few minutes. In the fourth inning the German executed a most difficult and brilliant messe. The Frenchman closed the fifth inning with a magnificent spurt of 131. This placed Vignaux in the lead, when Schaefer took the balls and added enough to his string to pass his opponent. The audience then became wild with excitement. Continuing he played strong for position, and exhibited several beautiful bank and massé shots, counting as rapidly as the marker, Charlie Matthews, could call. Working the balls along the side and around the end just outside the balk line, he continued counting quickly and surely, and not crossing the balk until the second hundred was turned, a remarkable achievement. After the grand and unparalleled run of 220 he masséd an easy canon. The applause which followed this great run was spontaneous and long continued. The Frenchman showed a graceful massé, and added seventeen to his string, the score standing at the end of the sixth inning: Schaefer, 299; Vignaux, 192. Although the Frenchman picked up in the eighth inning, he was still in the rear at the end of the eleventh. In the twelfth he won the warmest applause for an artistic four cushion carom around the table shot. In this inning he made the run of 109, leaving the score: Vignaux, 418; Schaefer, 334. In the next inning the German executed a left hand two cushion carom shot, which was loudly cheered. In the seventeenth inning by magnificent position play and delicate nursing, Schaefer picked up ninety-five, the score standing: Schaefer, 448; Vignaux, 425. The enthusiasm of the audience became aroused to the highest degree, as in the next half hour the players passed each other, first one and then the other in the lead. After each player had sought the dressing-rooms a moment and the audience had been given an opportunity to stretch themselves, Schaefer took the balls and run the game out in the twenty-first inning, with a spurt of 108. The people were fairly beside themselves with excitement, and the victorious little German was hoisted on the shoulders of stalwart men and carried in triumph through the aisles, the audience yelling until hoarseness intervened. The score by innings was:

Schaefer—0, 38, 0, 40, 1, 220, 10, 0, 13, 9, 0, 3, 10, 0, 7, 2, 95, 19, 9, 19, 108—Total, 600.
Vignaux—11, 4, 18, 5, 189, 17, 3, 77, 0, 21, 16, 100, 0, 0, 3, 0, 2, 52, 17, 17—Total, 609.

Time of game, three hours.
Schaefer's highest run, 220; average, 28.6-10. Vignaux's highest run, 139; average, 25.6-10.
Jacob Schaefer therefore wins the first prize and the championship of the world, the second prize going to Vignaux.

Progress of the President's Party.

Yemassee, S. C., April 8.—The night's events did not disturb the President's rest, so he said, and he was up on time for a 9 o'clock breakfast. The train for Savannah had been kept waiting at Charleston Junction for the President. The day opened warm, and, by comparison with yesterday, was sultry. The barren fields or scrub-growth of yesterday were succeeded by stately groves of pine and abundance of blossoms and Southern moss hanging in gray bunches from the trees. Indications of an approach to tropical regions began to appear in the tendency of the foliage to the tops of the trees, and in the green color and whiteness of leaf undergrowth. It was upon such a scene that the President's party rested their eyes through southern South Carolina and Georgia. The absence of demonstration along the line was quite as marked as yesterday, only small groups of people being gathered at the stations between Charleston and Savannah, and quiet prevailing everywhere.

MURDER MYSTERY SOLVED.

Mrs. Ella Carlton, of Boston, Assailed at the Instance of Her Husband.

Boston, April 8.—The mystery surrounding the brutal murder of Mrs. Ella Carlton, at the door of her home in Watertown, Sunday evening, March 18, has been discovered. Frank Carlton, a negro waiter, was arrested on receipt of information given by two of his companions, Clark and Smith, that Carlton had confessed to them that he murdered Mrs. Carlton, and that the ill-fated woman's husband had hired him for $250 to do the job. Clark is very sick, and says he cannot die with the secret on his mind. He says: "Some time about March 4 Carlton told me that Carlton, whom we both knew, had offered him $250 to do the job for him. The plan was to go to Carlton's place, bind him, and then chloroform and another the other party. The Saturday night before the murder he was noisy. Sunday afternoon he told me that he had got the money. Going to the house about dark, Carlton said, 'He tried one end of a ball of string to his wrist and went to the door, Carlton being on the opposite side of the street holding the other end of the string so as to signal him if anyone should come. The job was satisfactorily accomplished. The ball of string was rolled up, and both men came back to the city. March 20 Carlton told me and Tony Smith that he was going to meet Carlton and get $100. When he came back he said he missed seeing Carlton.'"
Carlton maintains a dogged silence. He has a bad record, and was suspected of the murder of old man Whitmore, the faro dealer, who was struck on the head with a brick last December and killed.

Cheap Postage.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Under the present law small country Postmasters, whose sales of stamps do not amount to more than $200 per annum, retain sixty per cent. of the value of stamps canceled as their salary. The reduction of letter postage to two cents would of course materially reduce the compensation of those small Postmasters, were they to receive only the same percentage. But the new law provides that where the sale of stamps do not exceed $200 per annum, the Postmaster shall after October 1 be allowed to retain one hundred per cent. of the stamps cancelled.

Judge Ela, Sixth Auditor of the Post-office Department, said to-day that this would cut off the entire revenue from about seventy-five per cent. of all the post-offices in the country. In the New England and Middle States the offices at which the sales of stamps aggregate more than enough to pay the postmasters' salaries average about one in three; in the Western States, about one in four, and in the South, about one in eight. Besides the great reduction in revenue, the operation of the new law will entail a great deal of additional labor on the postoffice department. At present many small offices retain sixty per cent. of the receipts and pay the other forty per cent. to a carrier, who delivers the mail to and from the depots. After October 1 these small offices will retain all the receipts, and the carriers will have to be paid by warrant from the postoffice department. Much other additional work now distributed among country postmasters will also be transferred to the department, and it is believed that the deficiency for the first few years will be much greater than was at first expected.

FLOATING LUXURY.

The Rich Can Ride in Yachts.

Description of the Lines, Peculiar Build and Luxurious Construction of the Largest Steam Pleasure Vessel Afloat—Jury Gould's Floating Palace.

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—The largest and best appointed steam yacht that has ever been designed for ocean navigation has been launched by Wm. Trawt & Sons, of this city. Decks are not yet planked, and no mast, bowsprit or spar gives promise of the canvas she will spread, and her hulls are not yet occupied by the engines or machinery which are to furnish her propelling power. Still her lines are visible, and competent judges of marine architecture foretell for her more buoyant battling with tempestuous seas than the Namouna, therefore the most complete specimen of steam pleasure craft construction. A notable contrast between the two steamers may be summarized as English and American models. The Namouna has the square stern affected by English builders, while the Atlanta sea-faring men think will run more comfortably before a dangerous sea by reason of her elliptical stern. From keel-head to tailfin she is 230 feet 3 inches; upon deck her length is 225 feet; on water line, 213 feet 3 inches; extreme beam, 26 feet 4 inches; moulded depth amidships, 16 feet; load line draught, 13 feet. The upper deck of the new yacht is flush, and for its whole length is unbroken save by a narrow house that extends for eighty feet of its space amidships, by a steam capstan windlass forward, by the necessary companionways and skylights to give access and light to the quarters below, and by four handsome ventilator tops to supply air to the engine and fire rooms. She will have two sets of boat davits on each side. Upon the port side and just forward of the mainmast will be hung a steam launch, thirty-two feet long; abaft her, in fact well on the quarter, on the same side, is to be hung the dingy, or working-boat, eighteen feet long. On the starboard side, abreast of the steam launch, is a six-oared cutter, thirty-two feet long, and abaft her and abreast of the dingy is to be a whale-boat, United States pattern, thirty-eight feet long, which will row five oars and which Mr. Gould will use for his pig.

The keel of the Atlanta, which was laid December 10 last, is of the best hammered iron, eight inches in depth and two inches thick. At the forefoot and stem it is increased in thickness to two and one-half inches, the other dimensions remaining the same. The stern-post is heavier, being four inches by eight, and the rudder-post is the same in dimension. The frames are all of the best quality of angle iron, three and one-half by three inches, and extend in one piece from the keel to the top of the rail, the portion above the stringers being, of course, lighter, and that above the plank-sheer forming the bulwark snub-chains. Each frame has a reverse, two and one-half by two and one-half inches.

HER 'TWEEN DECKS.

Owing to the depth of the yacht, the tower hold proper has ample space for the storage of luggage and stores. The permanent furniture of the lower deck is to be composed of inlaid maple, hatterum, cedar, California laurel, sycamore and other native hardwoods.

The lower deck and its apartments begins about twenty-five feet abaft the foremast and extends aft eighty feet, or to a point about the same distance abaft the mainmast. Its forward part is to be a most elegant apartment, upholstered elaborately for use as a social hall or smoking room. The steam-drum, of course, is enclosed within it, and a large space just abaft this is to be used as a kitchen, the galley stove-pipe coming up and entering the smoke-stack, thus disposing of all the kitchen odors, which, from the position of the cooking apparatus on Mr. Bennett's yacht, has been found very objectionable. It will communicate with the lower deck by a companion-way and a passage along the port side will lead to the steward's pantry, the position of which will be shown hereafter. Abaft this is the engine-room, and in the extreme afterpart of this house is to be the room for the captain of the yacht, where will be kept the chronometers, charts and nautical instruments.

The owner's room is an apartment thirteen feet and a half long and nine feet and a half wide. At its forward end a recess is built toward the middle of the ship four feet and a half wide by seven feet long, and in this is to be placed the bedstead, which will be entirely out of sight on entering the room, whose whole extent is thus left clear. This room will be finished entirely in mahogany, and will be furnished with all that art can suggest in the way of beauty and convenience. Opening out of it abaft will be a large toilet and bath room.

The whole ship's company to be provided for as follows: One captain, two mates, four quartermasters, two boatswains, eighteen seamen, one chief engineer, two assistant engineers, three oilers, six firemen, three coal passers, one steward, three cooks and six servants—in all, fifty-two men.

Besides her engine propelling power, the Atlanta will be able to spread as much canvas as the average three-masted schooner. Her standing rigging will consist of the best charcoal wire, and canvas specially made will whiten her masts.

Unprecedented Rainfall at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 8.—At seven o'clock yesterday morning a break occurred in the levee on the right hand bank of the Mississippi river at the New Orleans Pacific railroad depot, which in the course of an hour widened to 150 feet, and during the morning continued to widen to 300 feet, filling the town of Goudsboro to a depth of three feet of water.

A visit to Algiers disclosed the fact that the entire town is under water.

During the heavy rain this morning business men were compelled to use chairs to cross the sidewalk to reach the vehicles sent to bring them to their business. It is still raining furiously, and bids fair to prove the heaviest that ever visited the city. From six o'clock this morning to ten to-night 8 1/2 inches of water fell.

A Letter from Bettie.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—An evening paper publishes the following letter from the wife of Sergeant Mason:

LOCUST GROVE, ORANGE CO., VA., April 4.

I have read in your paper of the very strange steps taken by J. G. Bigelow and his efforts to get at my money, which good, kind and generous people gave to me for the benefit of myself and dear little baby. I have never employed Bigelow to attend to any business for me, and he has never rendered me any service either, and I want the public to know this. He pretends to have done so much for my husband, but I never employed him, and I have no money for Bigelow; and I hope the court will throw aside his unjust claim. My poor husband is still in prison, and Bigelow should be ashamed to try to take from me money given to me and my child for our support. Bigelow has never done any good for my husband, and he can not have any of the money with my consent. Respectfully,
BETTIE E. MASON.

Pleads Not Guilty.

DELAWARE, D., April 8.—Yesterday morning Lou, Hook was brought into Court, to be arraigned and enter his plea. A copy of the indictment, which contains three counts for murder in the first degree, had been previously read to him. When asked by Judge McElroy what was his answer, he rose to his feet, took a white handkerchief from his pocket, wiped his eyes, and in a composed manner, replied: "I wish to say to all the counts, and to the whole indictment, not guilty." The trial was set for Thursday, April 26, by which time all parties expect to be ready.

MURDERER CAPTURED.

Charles Sanders Arrested in Chicago for the Murder of Officer Charles Printz, of St. Louis.

St. Louis, April 8.—Officer Tom Dancann, of the Central District, today, telegraphed Chief Campbell from Chicago, that he had Charles Sanders, the murderer of Officer Charles Printz, and would leave for St. Louis tonight or tomorrow morning. The telegram announcing the arrest of Sanders in Chicago, was received yesterday at the Four Courts. Detectives Harlan and Egan were standing on Randolph and Franklin streets yesterday when a man who looked as if he might be wanted by the police, walked up and apparently wanted to avoid the officer's gaze. He was stopped and taken to the Central Station. Lieutenant Shea, who was at the station, looked at him closely, and referring to a photograph in the foreign book, said: "You're Charles Sanders, who killed Officer Printz in December, 1879." The prisoner replied without hesitation: "You've called the man, part. It was not in December, it was in June, '79." The record verified the prisoner's statement. He was then questioned about the homicide and his wanderings, and said that he killed Printz in self defense. He had been in a house of ill-fame on Poplar street, and was drinking heavily. In the evening he went to his sister's house, and while there became involved in a row with Mr. Martin, his sister's husband, during which Officer Printz came up. The officer began using his club inflicting a wound on the prisoner's head, traces of which are still visible in a scar. The officer then drew his revolver, which Sanders wrested from his grasp and used with fatal effect. After killing the officer he crossed to East Carondelet and walked to Alton, where he boarded a train for Chicago. He remained there for several weeks, and finally obtained employment on the propeller Collingwood, on which he went to Canada. He plied between Ontario and Erie, Pa., and was employed for several months in a woolen mill in Massachusetts. He returned to Chicago and found employment as fireman on one of the lakeboats, where he remained until arrested. Sanders' account of the murder is far different from that given at the time of the killing. Sanders was well known to the police as a desperate character, and was suspected of being implicated in several thefts, while he was convicted of an assault on a man with a knife.

Whisky Exportation.

The Louisville Post says: The manufacture of whisky is a leading American industry. It is strictly legitimate. It is in full recognition of the law. It is conducted by law-abiding citizens. It gives employment to tens of thousands of wage laborers. It furnishes a large market for the products of the farmers, both grain and live stock. It annually pays $65,000,000 towards the support of the Government—nearly 20 percent of the total revenue. It is a staple article in the markets of the world. It is therefore an industry that is entitled to the utmost consideration of the people and the undivided just protection of the Government.

Like every other industry, it now happens that it is undergoing a period of trying depression. It is jeopardized by an excessive over-production. Manufacture has practically ceased. Millions of gallons are stored away throughout the country with little hope of a market for one, two, or three years to come, and perhaps longer. Every gallon of it is in the possession of the Government, and is held for the payment of a tax which amounts to three times the cost of production. The Government, the framers of law, the people, everybody realizes that the payment of this tax is utterly impracticable until the goods are sold for consumptive purposes. This fact is recognized by the law in a clause deferring the payment of the tax for three years, or until the whisky is taken out of bond for sale. Within the coming year the limitation upon the great bulk of this over-production will expire, and the tax becomes payable. It is therefore clearly evident that the law, heretofore ample in its leniency, is entirely inadequate to the emergencies of the present situation, and that its literal enforcement means ruin or disaster to an industry that is vital to the country and invaluable to the Government as a source of revenue.

Thus imperiled, the holders turn to Congress for relief. Fanatical, unreasoning prejudice stands in the way and defeats a measure that was eminently just, and would have netted the Government an actual income of $1,000,000 during the next three years by way of interest upon the deferred taxes. With no recognition at home, the interest is driven to seek protection from foreigners. Exportation becomes the dernier resort.

Infelix necessity demands that our export laws must be misapplied, heavy expenditures and heavier losses must be sustained by senseless shipments, bonded warehouses, built for the purpose of storing whisky, must be vacated and the owners deprived of their legitimate incomes; foreign steamships, foreign stores-houses and foreign insurance companies must be enriched in handling the goods and financial affairs generally must be disturbed by the removal of collateral whose proper place is at home. All these losses and inconveniences are involved. But the case admits of no other alternative. The question then arises, which is the most available point? Bermuda best suits the East and Canada the West, but a trifling provision of the Canadian law stands in the way. Steps are at once taken to have this barrier removed. Our national authorities appreciate the merits of the case, cheerfully volunteer their recommendations and waive all Governmental objection to a sufficient amendment of the Canadian Government. The point is almost gained, when lo! a hue and cry of "ring" and "fraud" is raised against the whisky men and our National authorities, and the Canadian Ministry, appalled, hesitate and signify an unwillingness to involve their Government in the question.

Then what is to be the result? Simply that the whisky interests of the West will be forced to expend $3 more per barrel than those of the East in shipping to Bermuda.

COUNTY POINTS.

MT. GILEAD.

Mr. B. H. Farrow, expects to erect a large barn for the purpose of storing tobacco in this place this spring.

Mr. Abner Hora recently purchased sixty acres of land, lying adjacent to his farm, from his brother Ellis Hora of Missouri, price paid $60 per acre.

We notice that the Fern Leaf correspondent says that we were mistaken as to the regular meeting day of the Old School Baptists at this place. Evidently somebody is mistaken, the question arises, who is supposed to know most about the meeting? The Fern Leaf, or the Mt. Gilead, correspondent who resides here. As there are two sides to the church, it is a question of some dispute as to who are the "regulars." From the time that the church was first established which dates back to a time when the memory of man knoweth not, but to the contrary, the regular meeting days of the Old Baptists were the first Saturday and Sunday in every month. It continued so until the year 1837, when the house divided against itself, could no longer stand, then these so-called regulars, or the branch of the vine chose the second Saturday as their meeting day and still continue to meet on that day. The "old school" agreeable to a long established custom, continued to hold their meeting on the first Saturday and Sunday until a year or so ago, when they changed their day of meeting to the third Sunday to suit their pastor. We see nothing in the decision of the "regulars" as regards the "old school." Guess it was another returning board that counted the probabilities. We trust that P. L. M. will take no exception to what we have said, as we would rather a mistake were made about our necks than to offend the least of one of those.

A COUSE OBSERVER.

Adirondack Murray Denies It.

New York, April 8.—The Rev. W. H. H. Murray, of Adirondack fame, arrived in the city to-day, and denies strenuously that he left Texas to escape paying $12,000 of his debts. When asked about the published report he said he does not owe $500, and that he has a business worth $20,000. He also said that the story that he left the State with a lady companion is a lie from top to bottom. The truth of his statements have been confirmed from other sources.

Recovery From a Broken Neck.

About five months ago the daily press published a short item regarding a teamster named John Coltery, who attempted to drive his team through a barn door, and in doing so had his head forced down upon his breast until his neck was broken. Police Surgeon Stambaugh made an examination of the injured man and found that the seventh cervical vertebra was fractured, and that the spinal cord had been stretched out nearly two inches. So serious was the injury that the reporters, after chronicling the incident under the head of fatal accidents, paid no further attention to the matter, and failed to inquire after Coltery's condition, concluding him dead and buried. A Chronicle reporter was exceedingly surprised the other day to meet the supposed corpse near the city prison, looking remarkably well for a man with a broken neck. In a conversation which ensued Mr. Coltery stated that he was almost as well as before the accident, a slight stiffness in his right side constituting his entire "unpleasantness." After his removal to his home Coltery states that he was laid out on his back with a sort of fence about his neck and head which kept him immovable for over two months. Both the body of the vertebra and the aching lamina were discovered to be broken, and the operation of joining them together without pinching the spinal cord where it had sagged between the jagged edges as described is one of the most difficult ever performed. For a month the patient lay on his back, completely paralyzed in one half of his body, and with but little feeling in the other. If he moved in the slightest degree during the first fortnight he could plainly feel the jagged edges of the bone grate together, and for hours after such an attempt he was content to lie on his hard bed without attempting to move a muscle for fear that the spinal cord should be crushed and his existence ended in a twinkling. The straightest position attainable was required, and to this end Dr. Stambaugh was compelled to refuse him a mattress, forcing him to lie on a wide plank. Coltery says that before his eight weeks of enforced quietness was ended he thought that board was made of adamant. The most dangerous time he experienced, he says, was one day when an attendant told him that a man whose neck could stand breaking as his had was not born to be hanged. His desire to laugh was irresistible, and the shaking up his merriment gave him caused his fastenings to burst, and the fracture came near being ruptured afresh. During the first five weeks he did not move over a foot from his first position. The paralysis has now almost entirely disappeared, and Dr. Stambaugh yesterday promised him that he would be able to go to work within six months. The average fatality in cases of clearly defined fracture of the spine is estimated at 999 in 1,000.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Ethics of Baggage Smuggling.

From the report of a recent interview with a handler of personal baggage at a railway station we learn that the only wonder at thing about damaged trunks is that the number is not greater. The tendency of the traveling public to carry large trunks, which are bought as cheaply as possible, is not viewed with favor by the stout fellows who are expected to handle baggage. The rule is for a single man to handle a trunk, no matter how large the latter may be; as a natural consequence the great boxes in which some people stow their effects are hard to lift and are dropped with alacrity that is not in the least modified by regard for contents. There are two remedies exclusive of complaint to the company—which never does any good; one is to distribute the weight of articles more evenly among the various pieces of luggage, and the other is to use smaller trunks. There is no the slightest possible excuse for making a trunk of a large model of Noah's ark, unless, indeed, the owner, like Noah, proposes to transport live animals and to smuggle them through as personal baggage.—N. Y. Herald.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

MONDAY EVE., APRIL 9, 1883.

A JOLLY, jovial, kindly soul,
And master of his art,
Down at the hall, in "Edgewood Folks,"
Will do his faithful part.
You'd better rig your laughing gear,
Your buttons all sew tight,
And this you'll find is good advice,
When you go there to-night.

The river is swelling again.

The Old Fellows of Manchester, are going to build a new hall this spring.

Mr. W. L. Moxam, on Saturday, sold his crop of tobacco about five thousand pounds, to Mr. John Terhune, for $16 all around.

Thirty hogsheads of White Burley tobacco grown in Fleming county, were sold a few days ago at Louisville at an average price of $18.20.

The unfavorable weather for plowing has brought the people from the country in to the city to-day in great numbers. The streets have been crowded all the morning.

A bright little son of Mr. Wm. Rind, aged two and a half years, died this morning. The burial will take place from the residence on Third street to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock.

Mr. John Dwyer recently sold his crop of tobacco, about sixteen thousand pounds, to Collins & Proctor, of Mt. Carmel, for $15 from the ground up. The crop was an unusually fine one.

The finest pair of mules seen in Maysville for a long time were exhibited on the streets to-day by Mr. Thomas Forman. They were three years old and well matched. They were much admired.

Mr. John N. Thomas contemplates the early improvement of his business house on Market street. It is to be supplied with an iron front, the masonry of pressed brick with freestone trimmings and plate glass windows. It will be one of the handsomest buildings in the city.

Sol Smith Russell's new comedy drama is one of the few successful plays of the present season, and Sol is enjoying a "boom." At all his city engagements he has been greeted by packed houses, and is booked for return engagements in Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Brooklyn and New York.

Notice will be seen in another column of a meeting of the stockholders of the Germantown Fair Association. Those present report a large attendance and successful meeting. The company will expend the proceeds from last year's fair in improving the buildings and enlarging the premium list.

A despatch from Lexington to the Cincinnati Enquirer says:

Ellis Craft to-day received a letter from a brother, in which the following information is given. He says: "They have got a negro in jail in Charleston, W. Va., and he has told enough to clear you and Sol, and as soon as they get the other one it will be published in the world. Tillman and Burns visited the negro in jail. The Governor made a big speech in your favor. I will get it and send it to you in the next letter. Keep in good heart! I think you and Sol will be free again."

Mrs. Mary E. Thomas advertises elsewhere the arrival of a fresh stock of millinery goods for the spring trade, which have been selected with her usual good taste. She has also engaged an accomplished lady trimmer from Cincinnati, a fact that will be appreciated by her lady patrons. The stock is ready for inspection and Mrs. Thomas will be pleased to show it to all whether purchasers or not.

A GENTLEMAN in this county three years ago bought a farm near Maysville, which contained 42 acres and cost $1,030. The first year he sold $875 worth of tobacco from it, the second year $856 and the third year about $800. The wheat, corn and other produce obtained from it made the average yearly receipts about $1,000, or in other words the farm paid for itself every year. The former occupant of this land came very near starving to death.

The new tobacco warehouse which Mr. Newton Cooper is about to have built on Front street between Market and Sutton will be three stories high with a cellar under the entire building. It will front sixty feet and extend back one hundred and forty six feet. It is to be very substantially constructed and will be supplied with elevators and all conveniences needed for handling tobacco. The building when finished and ready for use will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. The plans and specifications were made by Mr. J. R. Soudley, of this city.

PERSONALS.

Miss Jessie Gillespie will leave for Pittsburgh to-morrow.

Mrs. Paul Hoellich, who has been very sick, is better to-day.

Michael O'Neil, of Manchester, has removed to Springfield, O.

Mrs. Wilson Richeson arrived from Chicago on Saturday evening.

Mr. J. D. Bridges and wife, of Portsmouth, are visiting their relatives in Maysville.

Mrs. George Boatman, of Manchester, who has been suffering from cancer, is at Cincinnati for medical treatment.

Miss Dee Wood returned from Cincinnati on Saturday. She was accompanied by Miss Josephine Sanford, of that city.

Mr. Charles Varian, who went to Chicago recently, is an employee of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad.

Mr. Lyttleton Dryden, of Mount City, Mo., is visiting Mrs. M. A. Pollitt and other relatives in this city and county.

Dr. W. H. McGrammahan arrived at home on Saturday evening. He was accompanied by his son Dr. F. G. McGrammahan.

Mr. James Burns, formerly of the Flemingsburg Democrat, was in Maysville Saturday, on a short visit to his friends.

Mr. Martin Mannix, whose death by drowning, together with two of his children, has been noticed in this paper, was the keeper of a toll gate near Owingsville. They were drowned about one o'clock on Friday morning. His house was between two branches of the creek, and during a freshet, thinking his house and family in danger, he took two of his children in his arms and tried to cross the creek, but the rushing waters overtook him and he was drowned together with his little ones. The mother and three other children, who remained in the house, were saved. Mr. Mannix and one of the children were buried at Washington on Saturday and the other on Sunday. The occurrence is one of the saddest we have ever been called upon to record. The family has many friends in Mason county who will receive the sad news with sincere regret.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Lewis and Mason Turnpike Road Company held Saturday April 7, 1883, the following named directors were elected: George W. Hall, J. Heavy Rains in Lewis County.

The rains in Lewis county, last week, were very heavy and as a result the creeks were very high and much damage was done. A great deal of soil was carried off of the plowed fields, fencing was washed away and on the lower waters of Cabin Creek a number of stables and out-buildings were swept off, and many head of stock drowned. A Mr. Sartain lost his stable with a valuable horse in it. Other persons lost hogs, cattle and sheep. The total loss will amount to a great deal of money.

The Frankfort Yeoman says: The scandalous abuse of the Court of Appeals by the Ashland Independent, in any other country would not be tolerated, and it is singular that no proceeding for contempt has been had against the editor. It is quite within the power of the court to put an end to the use of such scandalous language with regard to its actions.

The closing exercises of the Aberdeen school were held in the hall; it consisted of singing, recitations and dialogues, they were well attended by the friends and patrons of the school and the successful efforts of scholars were highly appreciated; they acquitted themselves in a creditable and pleasing manner. HOWARD HANGED.

For the Murder of a Young Woman in Missouri.

CHARLESTON, Mo., April 8.—Howard Underwood was hanged here to-day for the murder of Belle Lucas, a young woman, a year ago. The deceased on the morning of the homicide went to the house of defendant and said to one Barnes that she had been requested by one Thompson, who was very sick, and lived about one mile from defendant, to ask him (Barnes) to go over and see Thompson. Barnes and defendant were at breakfast; defendant got up, put on his boots, took his double-barreled shot gun and shot pouch and walked away in the direction of Thompson's; Barnes got his horse and started for Thompson's, with defendant riding behind him; they overtook defendant, who asked deceased to get down, saying that he wanted to talk with her on business; she got off the horse and Barnes rode on, and the deceased and defendant started on a path diverging from the road traveled by Barnes. Barnes had gone about a half mile, riding briskly he states, when he heard a gun fired and saw the smoke, when the body of the deceased was soon after found with a gunshot wound and her skull broken, a few feet from the path and about 300 yards from where they left Barnes. A double-barreled shotgun, detached from the breech, with one barrel recently discharged, was found lying near the body of deceased, which was identified as the gun of defendant. Defendant was seen soon afterwards with his shot-pouch on, but without his gun. After the homicide defendant left the neighborhood, but was afterwards captured. The execution took place at 1 o'clock in the jail yard, and was witnessed by a large crowd from all this surrounding country. By his own request he was hanged in a full suit of white clothing. He slept well last night and ate a hearty breakfast this morning. He had a fine coffin made, which was brought to the jail this morning for inspection.

A VILLANOUS WRETCH.

Under Pretense of Hugging His Wife He Presses a Revolver Against Her and Discharges It.

CLEVELAND, O., April 8.—Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock Samuel Cooper, a middle aged man, who, some years ago, was employed in the delivery department of the postoffice, went to 21 Walnut street, where his wife, Fanny, and her sister were about opening a boarding house. He entered the kitchen where his wife was, and she starting back from him, he exclaimed: "I ain't going to hurt you." He, however, immediately drew a revolver and fired one shot at her. The ball struck the woman in the right arm, inflicting a slight wound, glanced and entered her groin on the right side. The latter wound is not so fatal, the ball having been easily extracted. After seeing the shot Cooper fired. His wife was placed under the care of physicians. It is stated that the cause of the shooting was a separation that had occurred between Cooper and his wife. When Cooper went into the house he inquired of his wife and the two had a long conversation in the kitchen. He wanted her to give him $200, but she refused, as she had given him $75 but a few days ago. Suddenly Mrs. Cooper emitted a frenzied shriek. Her sister ran to the kitchen. "He was going to shoot me," said Mrs. Cooper. "Don't believe it," said Cooper. "I was only going to kiss her like this," at the same time throwing his arm about his wife's neck. Her sister turned to leave and at that moment the report of a revolver rang out, and Mrs. Cooper ran, screaming, through the hall to the front room. Cooper pursued her with his revolver drawn. The fleeing woman rushed into the front parlor and closed the door in her paroxysm of fear. She turned and ran back through the hall and disappeared.

MONEY FOR HELL GATE.

Senator Overight of Congress in Effort to "Take an Appropriation."

NEW YORK, April 8.—The peculiar manner with which enterprises of public importance were looked upon by the late lamented Congress is shown in the present condition of the excavations at Hell Gate. For eight years the work of removing the rock obstructions in the channel at Hell Gate has been pushed forward unceasingly, until there are now 20,236 feet of tunneling and 19,382 three-inch holes drilled in the rock, ready for the final blast. The amount of money expended up to January 31 is $766,515. It was expected that in October next the final blast would be made and that the obstructions would be cleared away entirely, but, owing to the failure of the late Congress to appropriate money to carry on the work, the blast cannot be fired before October, 1885. In the meantime, in order to preserve the work already done, water must be pumped out of the submarine tunnels at the rate of one thousand gallons a minute and at a total cost of $20,000 for the coming two years. While the engineers are thus waiting for money to complete their work incalculable damage will be done. It seems just a little singular that after appropriating money for the work for eight consecutive years Congress should fail at the last hour.

The Texas Telegraph Law.

MARSHALL, TEXAS, April 8.—It is estimated here to-day by those in position to know that should the stringent telegraph act now before the Legislature become a law, the Western Union may be obliged in self-defense to discontinue all its offices in Texas, except at a few of the principal business centers, and may possibly turn its lines over to the railroad companies and retire from the field in this State.

IMPRISONED AMERICANS.

Seven Americans Lying in a Foul Dungeon at Panama Under a Criminal Charge, but Unable to Secure a Trial.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The World publishes to-day a letter from the seven American prisoners at Panama who are accused of stealing $50,000 in gold from a vault in Panama. The money was sent by this Government to pay the naval officers and men of the Pacific fleet. These seven Americans were arrested last January and have not yet been brought to trial. A similar letter was published in the World yesterday. These letters were sent out of the prison by bribing the guards. The prisoners are Benjamin S. Lewis, Louisiana; Alexander Stewart, New York; R. H. C. Hubbard, New York; Thomas D. Scott, Missouri; C. H. Burns, Missouri; A. S. Bardwell, Mississippi; Frank Single, Illinois. In their letters they say:

"Our cell is simply a ston dungeon with two narrow slits a few inches wide above the floor. The floor is earth only, and the walls are very damp. The door of this abode of misery faces on the main hall. Past it all the human refuse from the convicts in adjoining corridors is carried to be thrown into the sea. Adjoining the prison is a soldiers' barracks, the drain from which passes under our cell or dungeon. Our cell is filled with the vilest odors by day and by night."

The prisoners then protest their innocence, and furnish facts to prove it. One of them, Stewart, of this city, was in another part of the country when the robbery occurred. Continuing, they say:

"From day to day we have been promised a hearing, and from day to day none has been granted us. Our American Consul assures us that he is powerless, and he has repeatedly said that he awaits instructions from Washington City. We appeal to our fellow citizens in the United States, and ask them to assist us in obtaining a trial. We again assert our entire innocence, and only ask for justice. We court and solicit the most thorough examination or investigation."

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Texas Hotel Falls, the Ruins Take Fire, and Fifteen Persons are Crushed or Routed to Death.

SHERMAN, TEX., April 8.—About 2 o'clock yesterday morning the Ende House, a three-story brick hotel, at Greenville, the county seat of Hunt county, fell, burying the inmates between its walls. Fifteen persons are known to have been killed. A few others escaped injury. The ruins took fire and many bodies were roasted in the flames. Greenville has no fire engine and a dispatch was sent here, asking the Fire Department to come to their relief. A fire engine was sent from here by special train and prevented the flames from spreading. Five bodies were taken from the ruins, but were charred beyond recognition. The following is a list of the lost as far as known: R. R. Neal, Mrs. M. E. Penit, proprietor; Geo. D. Penit, F. D. N. Riley, J. E. Ford, Frank West, Lon. Davis, Louis Chaney, and five negroes. The building was erected within the past year, and had been for some time considered unsafe, the walls being very light.

The piteous wails of the imprisoned and burning victims to whom no hand could render assistance, were heart-rending. The following business firms were located out: James Armstrong, hardware; K. Bernstein, agricultural implements; J. J. Cooper, machinery.

FAILURES THIS YEAR.

A Formidable Increase During the Three Months Just Gone.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Notwithstanding an appearance of general prosperity in business circles the failures for the first quarter of the present year show a formidable increase over those of 1882 and 1881, both in regard to numbers and amount involved. The total number of failures was 3,189, an increase of sixty per cent. over the same period in 1881 and forty-nine per cent. over 1882. The total liabilities foot up $42,235,535, an increase of forty-two per cent. over last year. The assets are reported at $23,763,823, an increase of fifty-five per cent. over 1882. The average liabilities for each failure amount to $13,243; the average assets, $7,542. The ratio of total assets to total liabilities is 56.2 per cent. The lowest average liabilities to each failure was $7,912, in the Pacific States; the highest, $20,701, in the Middle States. The mercantile agencies which have compiled the above statistics claim that the increased number of failures was a simple gleaming out of a lot of crippled firms which have been hanging by the eyelids for a long time.

COLONEL GEORGE H. HUTLER, the nephew of his uncle, whose escapades as army officer, husband of Rose Eyring and Consul at Cairo, Egypt, have made so much interesting reading, was appointed Quartermaster on General Terry's staff. His capers soon led to a request for his discharge, to which General Sherman replied: "This man was appointed for the purpose of developing the latent good that is in him. Let him be subjected to a severe course of discipline; send him to jail, put a ball and chain on him, shoot him if necessary, but don't discharge him."

An Opposition Flood at Niagara.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so tried with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or momentary exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.
"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the best remedy for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL, a permanent cure was effected. I am now 42 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved my life. HENRY E. FAIRBROTHER, Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882."

Group. — A Mother's Tribute.
"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours, Mrs. EMMA REEDNEY, 120 West 23rd St., New York, May 15, 1882."

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effective remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried." A. J. CRANE, Lake Crystal, Minn., March 17, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. I feel compelled to state this fact to the world. J. E. WALDEN, Bay Mills, Mich., April 5, 1882."

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles." F. BRADGON, Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.
